

WEEK 35: King Kong

- Italics and Underlining, Hyphen, Using the Right Word, Quotation Marks, Capitalization, Comma (In Direct Address)

King Kong is perhaps the most famous monster movie of all time.

It was an immediate hit when the 100 minute movie was shown for the first time in 1933. On the screen, the giant ape was 24 feet high. In real life, Kong was an 18 inch model covered with rabbit hare. My Grandma said, Jerry I can't ever see the empire state building without imagining that hairy monster clinging to it's top.

WEEK 35: Corrected Paragraph

King Kong is perhaps the most famous monster movie of all time.

It was an immediate hit when the 100-minute movie was shown for the first time in 1933. On the screen, the giant ape was 24 feet high. In real life, Kong was an 18-inch model covered with rabbit <sup>hair</sup>~~hare~~. My Grandma said, “Jerry, I can't ever see the <sup>E</sup>~~e~~mpire <sup>S</sup>~~s~~tate <sup>B</sup>~~b~~uilding without imagining that hairy monster clinging to <sup>its</sup>~~it's~~ top.”

Daily Writing Practice

This section offers three types of exercises. Writing prompts are sentences and pictures designed to inspire freewriting (which students may share in class and later shape into finished narratives or essays). Writing topics address a wide range of writing ideas. Finally, the Show-Me sentences provide practice in developing the important skill of “showing” in writing.

Writing Prompts	115
Writing Topics	139
Show-Me Sentences	145

